

Government superannuation co-contribution

Financial Planning Fact Sheet 02

The Superannuation Co-contribution is a helping hand from the Government to assist you to save for your retirement. If you are eligible and make a personal superannuation contribution, the Government will also make a contribution up to certain limits.

Who is eligible for the Government Co-contribution?

You may be eligible for the Co-contribution in a year of income, if:

- You make a personal non-concessional contribution to a complying superannuation fund;
- Your total annual income (including salary sacrificed amounts) is less than $56,112;
- 10% or more of your income is from eligible employment or carrying on a business;
- You lodge an income tax return for the year;
- You are less than 71 years of age at the end of the income year; and
- Your general Transfer Balance Cap has not been exceeded (currently $1.7 million as at 1 July 2021).

How does it work?

If your total income is $41,112 or less a year, the Government will now contribute fifty cents for every dollar you put into your super fund, up to a maximum Co-contribution of $500 a year.

Once your income exceeds $41,112, the level of the Government Co-contribution reduces progressively and cuts out at an income of $56,112.

Income	Maximum Govt. Co-contribution	Your contribution to receive maximum amount
$41,112	$500	$1,000
$45,000	$370	$740
$47,500	$287	$574
$50,000	$204	$408
$55,000	$37	$74
$56,112	$0	$0

For example, if your income is $45,000 and you make a personal super contribution of $740 during the year, you will be entitled to a Government Co-contribution of $370.

Do you need to apply for the Government Super Co-contribution?

No, you don't need to apply for the Super Co-contribution. At the end of each financial year when the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) has received your tax return and information from your super fund, they will calculate your Super Co-contribution, deposit the funds into your super fund and send you a confirmation letter.

Which super fund will the Government Co-contribution be paid to?

Unless you nominate a particular superannuation fund, your Super Co-contribution will usually be paid into the fund where you make your personal superannuation contribution.

Will the contributions be taxed?

The Super Co-contribution and your personal contributions are treated as an undeducted contribution for taxation purposes and will not be subject to any taxation when paid into your fund.
